

GREENSTREET FIRST GRADERS ARE SPLIT UP

Forty first graders are just too many for any one teacher to handle, but lack of an additional classroom at Greenstreet made it impossible to divide the class into two groups. To alleviate the situation, the class has been divided during the morning hours with one half of the children in the classroom and the other half in the library. Mrs. Marie Noble, home room instructor, is working with the children in the classroom while Mrs. Judy VanMatre provides instruction in reading, arithmetic, and writing in the library. Mrs. Van Matre is shown helping the first graders learn how to print their names.
