The dismissal bell will ring for the last time at the end of this semester for four teachers in Junior High School. Pupils are looking forward to a happy vacation of three months, but four of our fine teachers are taking a longer vacation. They have decided to rest—and rest—and rest; work just when the spirit moves them. The new seventh graders will be disappointed, for they have been assured by their friends that it was a joy and a privilege to meet these teachers in the classroom.

So we say "ORCHIDS" to our four fine teachers, who have guided our hands, our minds and our hearts. They all have loved to teach as a painter loves to paint, as a musician loves to play, as a singer loves to sing and as a strong man rejoices to run in a race. They have all run a good race. They are now ready to receive their reward, and that reward is satisfaction in feeling and knowing they are acclaimed as winners in their line of teaching.

ADMINISTRATION

GREETINGS:

The largest ninth grade class in the history of our school system will be entering the Senior High School in September, 1962. The very fact that there are more than five hundred students creates problems that have not been confronted by previous classes. Therefore, each of you should plan more carefully, strive to be of service to your classmates and control your speech, actions and emotions. You can make the adjustment and we believe you will.

Members of the present eighth grade will be those to whom your underclassmen will look for assistance and guidance in continuing the Junior High School traditions and high standards of achievement and conduct. We have confidence in you. Make every effort to live up to our expectations.

The present seventh grade class will be closest to the incoming class. Do all you can to help them adjust to new teachers, use of lockers, etc. They will be forever grateful for an encouraging word.

Congratulations to all of you for the successful completion of another school year. Have a good time this summer and return to school in September determined to achieve equal to your capacity.

Sincerely,
REXFORD G. WRIGHT
 Superintendent of Schools

STUDENTS OF JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL:

It is our hope that this has been another year of challenge and that your accomplishments have been most rewarding.

Your success and happiness now and in the days ahead are yours to decide. It is our hope that as teachers and friends we may provide inspiration and help which will give added courage to make the most of your opportunities.

This is your school, and a most important part of your daily experience.

Insure your future with well laid plans each day, in order that you may give your best and face each new day with a smile.

May your vacation be a pleasant one.

Sincerely,
FORREST C. RITCHIE

DEPARTMENTS

ART

Mrs. Dickerson's classes in Art have worked in various medias this year. All classes have made collages. Some of these were very attractive. Suzanne Stults made a water scene with fish in it.

Several made paper mosaics that were very interesting. Alice Davidson made a circus arrangement with a dumpy baby elephant ambling along a path of trees.

Another project was painting with water color and the use of string. Floyd Guffey, Donna Judkins, Arthur Peterson and Joyce Sparks made exceptionally beautiful designs in this media.

Pen and ink drawings have been fun this year. Dennis Overton had his pen and ink drawing accepted by the National Anthology of Art in Los Angeles. His picture will be reproduced in the book published yearly by this company.

Other class projects included water color, chalk drawings, charcoal drawings, linoleum block printing and potato printing.

The classes made soap carvings and several of these have been sent to the National Soap Sculpture Contest. Mary Beth Hughes sent a scottie dog; Debbie Judkins sent an elephant; Alice Davidson and Lisa Henderson carved heads of horses, and Joyce Sparks carved a modernistic colt.

Some of the children painted their soap carvings. The three who received local recognition in this line were Anita Pahl, Steven Wright and Sharon Bruce—all three carved dogs. The three receiving local recognition in unpainted carvings are Brent Furbee, a Mexican with sombrero; Lise Henderson, horse's head; and Arthur Peterson and Paul Owens tied for third place, penguin and squirrel.

Under Mrs. Reddish's supervision, Lana Elmore was the winner of a gold key and Penny Knotts received honorable mention in the Scholastic Art Awards Contest. This highlighted the art program in grades eight and nine. Lana won with a string and water color picture of three apples. Penny had a fashion design.

Mrs. Reddish again supervised the JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL REVIEW Cover Design Contest. From over 100 entries from grades seven, eight and nine, Carolyn Craig was selected as winner. Honorable mention went to Kris Wilson, Larry Proctor, Jill Lough, Joe Davis, James Griner and Linda Sletvett.

The Art classes were responsible for the lovely Christmas bulletin boards in the main hall.

Other projects included silk screening posters for the "Christmas Sing-Along," the "Faculty Basketball Game" and the "Show Boat;" collage, mosaics, water color, commercial art and especially enjoyed was a new unit on portrait drawing.

MUSIC

School wouldn't be school without our music program, and this year courses in this field included band, orchestra and choir. Each group had participants entered in solo and ensemble competition, of which several were first place winners in the state contest.

Several eighth and ninth grade bandmen participated in the second band camp at McCormack's Creek Park for a week of marching, playing and recreation.

Mr. Gustin was choir director. Mr. McConnell was the orchestra and seventh grade choir director. Mr. Houstin was a new teacher of B and C Bands. Miss Martin directed the A Band.

HEALTH SERVICE

Efficient nursing services are rendered by nurses in Junior High School. Mrs. Bailey serves in Building occurring at school. If a student needs more than first-aid or temporary care, parents are notified so they can call for the child and assume further care. Only in an emergency or when parents cannot be located, is the student taken home or to the family physician.

Early in the year, hearing tests are given to seventh grade pupils and new students of all three grades by the speech and hearing therapists, Mrs. Spitzer and Mr. Wilson. They also give speech therapy to those who need or wish help.

All eighth grade students and new students in ninth grade are given health interviews. This includes a vision screening test. Tuberculin testing is offered later in the year.

Dr. Fisher, the school physician, does medical examinations on students called to his attention by the school nurse. If necessary, parents are then notified of the child's health problem. Through the services of the family doctor, the child then secures the needed treatment and/or correction.

It is hoped by these services the children will become better students.

GUIDANCE AND COUNSELING

The guidance and counseling department serves every student from the time he enters the seventh grade until he leaves the junior high school to become a high school sophomore.

If a student needs help with personal problems, class adjustment or future plans, he visits the office of Mrs. Saint in the seventh grade, Mr. Lehr in the eighth grade or Miss Modlin in the ninth grade. With these counselors, each student individually plans his subjects for the following year. In preparation for high school, group meetings and individual conferences are arranged with the students and parents to present the entire high school course of study and to aid in the selection of the curriculum to be followed.

Mr. Corbin has charge of attendance in the seventh grade and sponsors the student council. In the eighth and ninth grades Mr. Lehr supervises attendance and with Miss Modlin co-sponsors student council.

MATHEMATICS

The goal of instruction at the junior high level is to provide a learning program adapted into adolescence.

The primary objectives are: (1) to develop the ability to use mathematical processes with an insight into their value; (2) to provide experiences which will give the child the ability to apply his knowledge in the affairs of daily life.

Teachers of math are Mr. Daggy, Mr. Wallace, Mr. Niflis, Mr. Bowers, Mr. Garner, Mrs. Ankrom, Mrs. Saint, Mr. Wanley, Mr. Pasman, Mr. King and Miss Smith, department head.

PRINTING

Ninth grade boys, under the supervision of Mr. Beguhn, are enabled to delve into the graphic arts (printing) and a few of the varied opportunities available to them.

Divided into four areas, this course includes block cutting, book binding, silk screen and hand composition.

Having this background material enables a student to elect to continue his work in the graphic arts—one area in a vast number of related fields. Further training is obtained in the vocational printing trades class, open to juniors and seniors.

HEALTH AND PERSONAL LIVING

Techniques of group guidance were used first school and to make vocational studies. Personality and vocational interest tests were taken by the students.

Mental health, body systems and functions, anatomy, nutrition, diseases, health services, safety and first aid, narcotics and alcohol were topics covered in the second semester. Self-responsibility for following wholesome health practices received emphasis.

Teachers in this department are Mr. Bookout, Mr. Judd, Mr. Marks, Mrs. Miller and Mr. Taylor Morris.

CRAFTS

Pupils in Mr. Albrecht's craft classes explore and make many projects from a wide variety of materials, such as metals, wood, reed, ceramics, mosaics and plaster.

Many decorative and useful objects are made while each pupil is encouraged to develop his own ideas and initiative in handwork.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

This course specializes in the study of the changes in the form of materials to make them more useful to man's needs. Taught by Mr. Locke in Building A, students learn correct use of tools, the careful selection and handling of materials and the constructive cooperation of working with others.

SCIENCE

Anything can happen in the science department. Mrs. Dudelston and her students may be launching plastic balloons to study wind direction or Mr. Williams may be blowing fuses with his experiments with electricity. Mr. Bookout may be helping several students with science projects after school while a Science Club meeting may be in progress under Mr. King's supervision. These four teachers have varied backgrounds in science and are able to offer the students a good foundation for future work in science.

The Science Club, open to eighth and ninth grade scientists, has had a successful year. We hunted fossils in southern Indiana, explored Wyandotte Cave, toured Chicago and Purdue University and ended the year with a camping trip at Yellowwood State Forest.

LIBRARIES

Our libraries are ready to serve students and teachers with materials for the various departments in the curriculum as well as recreational reading and browsing.

It is in the library that students can and should learn how to use library facilities to enrich and supplement their class work and individual interests. Teacher librarians, Miss Quigley in Building B and Mrs. Scheetz in Building A, are always ready to help students learn to help themselves as they seek reference information or merely recreational reading.

Student helpers (known as Library Cadets in Building A) come from their study halls to help with many routine duties such as checking out books, shelving returned materials, re-enforcing magazines, decorating bulletin boards, filing, etc. Their own work comes before any of these duties, but they all manage to help some each hour. Our professionally-trained librarians are continually selecting materials to meet the needs of our school curriculum and to provide an opportunity for additional exploration and discovery for individuals, both teachers and students.

ENGLISH

During the three years of junior high English classes, the students have been helped by a functional language arts program. The basic skills emphasized

Classroom projects in writing included reports, letters, stories, autobiographies, essays and other compositions. In addition to the regular class work, many students entered spelling, poetry, vocabulary, grammar, essay and speech contests. Several students were responsible for publishing the school paper, "Junior Hi-Lights," and the yearbook, JUNIOR HIGH REVIEW, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Nead.

Mrs. Nead's speech classes have given daily announcements, weekly devotional and patriotic programs and convocations. One of Mrs. Poole's classes was responsible for announcements and programs in Building B.

Developmental reading was stressed for eighth and ninth grade English classes in the Reading Center with Mrs. Bilby. Speed and comprehension were increased as well as growth in vocabulary.

English classes were taught by Mrs. Nead, Mrs. Rickert, Mr. M. Wallace, Mr. Neuman, Mrs. Hunter, Miss Throckmorton, Mrs. Poole, Mrs. VanBebber, Mr. Scott, Mr. Yazel, Mrs. Ankrom and Mrs. Janulis, head of the English department.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Courses are offered in geography, Indiana and United States History, Problems of Democracy and World History.

The Wide Wide World Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Frazier, has had a most enjoyable and profitable year. There were 97 members this year in the club. Carrying out the theme, "Education—Travel—Adventure," a field trip concluded the year's activities. Money for the trip was earned by selling concessions at the basketball games.

The Student Council election was conducted by Mr. Maxwell's and Mr. P. Morris's ninth grade classes.

Several interesting programs were presented during the year by different classes in the department. The Columbus Day and the Thanksgiving programs were presented by Mrs. Culp's third period class, assisted in the latter program by Mrs. Nead's fourth period speech class. The Bill of Rights program was presented by Mr. P. Morris's fourth period class. The bulletin board and display case in Building A in November were done by Mr. Neuman's and Mr. Tague's classes.

Social studies classes were taught by Miss Stockinger, Mr. Frazier, Mr. Wiles, Mr. Pasman, Mr. P. Morris, Mr. Neuman, Mr. Maxwell, Miss Rupley, Mr. Tague and Mrs. Culp, department chairman.

GENERAL SHOP

The general shop is best characterized by the broad scope and variety of experiences it offers to junior high school boys taking industrial arts for the first time.

Being cognizant of the fact that the basic objective of industrial arts is to interpret industrial occupations and the products of industry, Mr. Giles and Mr. Journey each spend one semester with each boy in the seventh grade. Because students have a natural desire to investigate, experiment and construct articles, this objective can be accomplished through the construction of useful projects involving pupil planning and individual and group activity.

Industrial arts is certainly a part of general education. It derives its content from industry—a basic element of our culture—and further, it has as its social purpose a greater understanding and better control of the phenomena of industry.

HOMEMAKING

Girls who took classes in homemaking learned

DEPARTMENTS

ing pillow cases and aprons, constructing stuffed animals and designing skirts, blouses and shorts. Good grooming was studied. A style show was held in May.

In foods classes, proper nutrition was studied. Students planned, prepared and served various meals.

The foods classes prepared several different foods for display in Building A. This consisted of Merry Christmas cookies, cut-up cakes, such as dogs, fish, snowmen and even a pink elephant.

A Christmas Tea was given for the faculty by Mrs. Klipsch's and Mrs. Miller's sixth period classes. Girls in Building A who earned a first semester grade of B or above, were given the opportunity to go on a field trip to Indianapolis. The girls visited City Market, had lunch in the Ayres Tea Room, saw a fashion show and visited many sites of the city.

Homemaking proved to be fun and instructive as taught by Mrs. Francisco, Mrs. Razor, Mrs. Klipsch and Mrs. Miller.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

The Spanish and Latin classes of the ninth grade have taken up their first foreign language study for high school credit. The ground work in both languages has involved learning vocabulary and translating sentences.

The five Latin classes have been taught by Miss Hodson. The work has included practice in pronunciation, reading and writing Latin, learning about our Roman heritage, learning about English words derived from Latin, and the daily life of the Roman people. A chapter of the Junior Classical League was organized with a total membership of 95 students.

There have been six Spanish classes, five taught by Mrs. Williams and one taught by Mrs. White.

These classes have a good foundation in Spanish history as well as in writing and speaking Spanish words. They have begun to realize that a knowledge of this language is beneficial in our relationship with our Spanish-speaking neighbors of the Western hemisphere.

Early in May a merit scholarship examination was given in both Latin and Spanish with recognition for winners being made on Honor Day.

EXPLORATORY LANGUAGE

For the first time Exploratory Language has been offered as an elective course for eighth grade students who wanted some experience in the study of both Latin and Spanish before planning their ninth grade schedule.

For nine weeks, three days a week, either Spanish has been studied, with Mrs. White as teacher, or Latin has been studied, with Miss Hodson as teacher. The second nine weeks these teachers traded classes so that the students spent an equal amount of time in the study of the two foreign languages.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Physical education has been taught to both boys and girls this year in the seventh and eighth grades.

These students have participated in many activities including tumbling, gymnastics, volleyball, basketball, square dancing, rhythms and kickball. Wrestling was included in the curriculum this year. Students not only developed healthier bodies, but learned the meaning of coordination in working together in teams, as well as individually.

Instructors were Miss Fleming and Mr. Wegesin.

JUNIOR HIGH ATHLETICS

MR. JOHN MAXWELL

Here in the New Castle Junior High School inter-scholastic athletic program, two new sports were added. The boys now participate in cross country track, football, basketball, wrestling and track.

Winning games and meets is our goal. Still, we are trying to teach the fundamentals of each sport and make it possible for the boys to win berths on the high school varsity teams. Therefore, we usually have a larger number of boys participating in practice than is necessary to make up the teams. We feel this is necessary in order not to overlook boys who may develop into good future players.

We award letters in each of our six sports to those boys in the eighth and ninth grades whom we feel are deserving of them. The boys in the seventh grade receive blue ribbons. The basis of decision to award a boy a letter or ribbon includes not only his particular ability in that sport, but also mental attitude, promptness, attending practice sessions, games and dependability, etc.

During the school year of 1961 and 1962 the Junior High School boys participated in 12 football games, 5 cross country track meets, 76 basketball games, 3 basketball tourneys, 2 wrestling matches and 8 track meets. Next season the wrestling team will have at least five meets.

Our coaching staff for football includes Robert Neuman and Milton Wallace, ninth grade coaches; William Williams and Robert Wiles, eighth grade coaches. Our basketball coaches are Wilbur Veach and Cecil Tague, ninth grade; Robert Wiles and Robert Neuman, eighth grade; James Pasman and Larry Yazel, seventh grade. The track coaches are Milton Wallace and William Williams, ninth grade; Larry Yazel and Kenneth Wallace, eighth grade. Cecil Tague is the ninth grade cross country track coach; William Williams is the eighth grade wrestling coach, and Jack Razor is the ninth grade wrestling coach.

As a co-ordinator of the athletic program is John Maxwell, Athletic Director. His work is making all schedules, issuing and caring for all equipment, scheduling buses for out-of-town trips, checking scholarship of boys participating in the program, securing referees and other officials needed for all home games.
